Dear First Ascent Event Organiser,

It was one my most memorable moment of life, when our team recently won a national level Hackathon, which was organised by NSUT (earlier NSIT) one of prestigious engineering institution in India.
It was not a miracle. We had a goal in our mind and just needed to put the required headwork into the idea, And By the way Creating cool and useful stuff has been my passion from childhood. I knew that my curriculum at my college is not composed of topics that I want to learn, So I learnt that topics my self by means of book and online tutorials. I believe on a simple principle that – Everything before being done seems to be impossible. So we just need to be determined enough to reach the goal. I don't get satisfied by what I have rather I get satisfied by achieving things that I want, Some of ways I learnt my skills are –

  – Reading numerous books on Web technologies and building things entirely from scratch.
  – Contributing to college projects.
  – Participating in Hackathons where we get to know new people and learn new things from them.

When I came across First Ascent International, I got really excited as it gives me opportunity to meet some of the brillant people across the globe and interact with them. I am good in Web, Alogrithms. To know more about me, you may visit my Website or have an eye on my resume.

It would be an honour, if I could be the lucky one to get selected.

Thank you for your time, I am looking forward to hear from you.

Best Regards,

Jatin Kumar
